Rare Mill Photo Found

A never before publicly known picture of the old Hobart Mill has been located in the possession of Mr. A. F. Vogel of 1126 Devonshire who took the picture as a color slide in 1949, back when photographers had to mount their own slides in metal casings. Mr. Vogel brought the slide to THE GAZETTE at the urging of artist George Belshaw who has used the perspective for two of his paintings of the Mill.

Many Mill lovers hold that Vogel's picture is the best to be found of the Mill to date and THE GAZETTE is taking orders for color reproductions of the slide, suitable for framing in an 11 x 14 frame. A sample will be on display at THE GAZETTE this week.
